A Hodge Podge of Holes, Mud Banks and Contractors' Materials.

ONE MUST SWIM TO CROSS RESIDENTS REDUCED TO STATUS OF CAVE DWELLERS.

It is evident that the people who reside | ••••••••••••••• on Main street south of Fourth South street have a kick coming. It is ten to lined with piles of dirt and brick and holes and ties and rails. We have this not only now, but we have had it for six months. We are getting tired of it, and I think we are justified in making a one that the contractors have a kick coming and furthermore, it is a lead pipe cinch that there are going to be some doings if conditions do not improve. Beyond Fifth South there is about as frightful a street in appearance as can be imagined; indeed, the condition extends northward of that point and southward until Seventh is reached.

ward until Seventh is reached.

They are doing all sorts of things to Main street down there. The water main contractor has the street full of holes for his water nines: the street car tracks we can get. All right. Let us have them, but let us have them some time before the millenium. We are patient, but patience, it take it, ceases to be a virtue when the heat part of the heat part of the left his water pipes; the street car has its right-of-way torn up and embanked with mud in putting in its new tracks; P. J. Moran has the paving contract and has plowed up the street so that confusion is reduced to chaos.

I take it, ceases to be a virtue when the best part of a year is taken out of our lives because a street car company, or a water pipe contractor, or a paving contractor, who is waxing fat off the taxpayer doesn't do the things he is paid to do. is reduced to chaos.

The residents along the street have the complaint to make that the period is far advanced of the year when their flowers are in the biossoms and their lawns at the best, and that the fellows who are rooting up the streets are a menace and a peril and a threat to their property.

If the city or whoever is running this thing—would put some men at work we would get this street fixed again, but as it is now, we are nothing but cave dwellers. Isn't it enough to frighten you? I hope this administration has sand enough in it to wake up and put somebody in authority who can and will push these "improvements' along. It am an American party man myself, his? "But so far as work is concerned, how can we do anything in this slop?' "slop" was putting it mildly. The liquid that lay in the bottom of the trenches was as dense and as opaque as a chicken house site in the south. Men were fishing around in the bottom of this excavation for a grapple on a piece of pip but they were never sure of getting it.

The Street Car Lines.

"There is little question that the peo-ple down here have a kick coming," said "There is little question that the people down here have a kick coming," said the boss of a gang of street car men. The street car company is putting in sixty-yound and eighty-pound rails—as heavy and heavier than railroad rails on the summit service in mountainous disheavy and heavier than railroad rails on the summit service in mountainous disheavy and the summit service in mountainous disheavy and railroad rails on the grounds; baby and Thursday. our time and our energies to the cross-street intersection work. It is ticklish work and must be done right in the first limit the speed again after the paving is laid. We are nearly ready for the ballast on the curves accidents and as a further precautionand on some of the track. Straight track ary measure cars containing police ofaying is simple and easy, save that we ficers wil patrol the line of march, are interrupted so often by passing cars.

We sometimes temporarily spike down rails for the passage of a car that have to be taken out again and permanently posal of the committee and will be used fixed. On Main street there are so many cars that we are often handicapped; if the minstrel show and who will be guests we delay a car five minutes it disarranges of honor. the whole service and we are up against it. We are putting in our steel as fast as we can, although we have been ham emblems yesterday and a good showing pered by this weather."

Manti, June 15.—Yesterday the little son f H. P. Halsen, a blacksmith of this emblems yesterday and a good showing has been made already. Monday will probably see most of the windows in the business district decorated.

The committee was advised yesterday afternon that three fine new cars belonging to Samuel Newhouse, Thomas Kearns and Frank Knox would be in the parade. None of the cars has been in the city a week and all are fresh from the makers. Mr. Newhouse's car is a racer of a capacity of 120 miles an hour.*

Manti, June 15.—Yesterday the little son of H. P. Halsen, a blacksmith of this city, met in caps. Glant caps and fush temple grounds for the purpose of blasting out some of the larger rocks on the mountain side. The house where the caps and fuse were located was broken into by some larger boys who, it is claimed, have been arrest-ed. In some way these caps have been scattered around or lost by the boys who fortunate lad here on one of the streets, which exploded in the little fellow's hand.
